

A change in our team

At the end of 2008, Malika BIGORNE left us for a new professional career outside the field of tourism. Consequently, we take great pleasure in announcing the arrival from 12 January, in the tourism department, of Mrs Rosa WODIA, who has the benefit of 18 years' experience of travel organization. We are pleased to welcome her to the team and offer her our best wishes for her future here. Please don't hesitate to call on her services. She will be very happy to answer your enquiries. Her e-mail address is : rosa.wodia@delta-voyages.ch

After Alitalia... Alitalia !!!

After the problems encountered by Alitalia, the company resulting from the amalgamation of Alitalia and Air One now operate under its old name. In addition, in spite of the abandonment of negotiations almost 9 months ago, because of an amalgamation with Air France-KLM, the Franco-Dutch group now hold 25% of the company. Since 13 January, the airline will be serving 70 destinations in future: 23 of them are internal Italian airports, and the remainder are divided between international and intercontinental destinations. Alitalia will operate a total of 2336 flights. London City, Alghero and Pescara will be the new destinations of this network.

Club Med 2, five tridents for a five-master...

Inspired by the narratives of long-distance explorers and by the majestic appearance of vessels of the past, Sophie JACQMIN, the interior decorator, has rehandled the concept of a five-master and created an elegant and lyrical world. All the way from restaurants to cabins with a peaceful atmosphere, guests will find they are plunged into a quite novel sea-going décor.

Siwa Oasis, the desert springs

Once upon a time there was Siwa Oasis... It was in the Temple of Amon-Zeus that Alexander the Great heard the revelation of the oracle that assured him he was a direct descendant of the god Amon...and he became Pharaoh... This Berber oasis is a green patch between the sand dunes of the Great Sand Sea and the White Desert. It has kept its traditions, and its population was converted to Islam only in the twelfth century. Even today the Issiwani speak their own language.

Destination of the month : Adventure Trains, another mode of travel

Travelling by rail need not mean just moving from A to B. The journey is already an end in itself. On 5 continents you can discover some of the legendary and other trains that thread their way over the surface of our planet. These are trips that will delight not only railway enthusiasts but all those who wish to discover the earth's far-flung places and meet some of its inhabitants... some of these trains are in such demand that you sometimes have to take care to book more than a year in advance to be sure of a reservation. That is certainly the case with the more than legendary Venice
